Do you feel like you're living on a movie set?

If you do, then you could be suffering from a brain condition called Capgras syndrome (or Capgras delusion), a condition that damages a part of the brain called the temporal lobe. In Capgras, the person experiences the situation as if he or she is living in a movie. In other words, it's as if the person believes that everyday items around them, such as relatives, pets and fictional characters are really disguised spies, or imposters. Capgras syndrome can cause abnormal behavior as 3da54e8ca3
